GLORIOUS ELLSWORTH

Cheer to Ellsworth, ever glorious,

Raise her Banner high;

As we pass beneath her portals,

We say a fond good-bye.

Lift your voices; lift them higher;

Let her praises ring;

'Tis to thee, dear Ellsworth,

We your praises sing.

—Ruth Wilson.

CLASS SONG

We'll always remember Ellsworth
Wherever we may roam,
We'll never forget, we'll never regret
That she was our Home Sweet Home.

We'll cherish all our souvenirs
To us they'll always be dear;
And in future days when we're on life's hard ways,
These bright thoughts will lend us good cheer.

Though we're far apart,
You'll be part of our heart,
And to you we'll ever be true.

This parting may be forever,
So while we're all together,
We'll shed a tear and sigh
And bid a fond good-bye,
To our dear old Ellsworth High.

—Geraldine King.

THE LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT OF THE CLASS OF 1942

We, the Class of 1942, in testimony of our affection for our Alma Mater bequeath the following:

Audrey Armstrong leaves her golden voice to Hazel Morse.

Josephine Baranausky leaves her twinkling toes to Dottie Simler. Twinkle on, Dottie.

To next year's Freshmen boys, Joseph Baranausky donates some of his dancing ability. Lucky girls!

Arthur Burnham bequeaths his witty remarks to Herb Tschummi. He needs them.

Betty Burnham leaves her position on the first aid squad to Shirlee Grant.

Philip Bannock, the dashing young man about town, gives his charming ways with the girls to Joe Grigely. If you get stuck, Joe, ask Phil.

Robert Bourke relinquishes his tall stories to Donald Woolam.

Everett Boyle surrenders his place on the fire squad to Eddie McCann.

Thomas Cadder wills his towering height to Herb Duke. Here's hoping you'll grow, Herb.

Doris Chevinsky bequeaths her L. C. Smith typewriter to Irene Simiensi. Keep pecking, Irene.

To James Callahan, William Cooper leaves his job as manager of the basketball team. Take good care of the first aid kit, Jimmie.

John Dziadul leaves his long ride to school to Margaret Clapp. Don't get lost, Margaret.

Anna Elinskas presents her shorthand book to Pat Bannock. Don't study too hard, Pat.

Harold Flaherty bequeaths his artistic ability to Tom Cadder.

John Gahr leaves his place on the basketball team to Willard Steane. Don't make too many baskets, Willard.

Alphina Gingras leaves her willingness to help to Thelma Barry.

Rita Grant bequeaths her Band Box appearance to Bea Sinsigalli.

Elva Grant relinquishes her skill in wearing pigtails to Rita Tromley.

Edward Grigely leaves his ability to win letters in athletics to Billie Muska.

Margaret Flaherty is the receiver of Erma Hoffman's baby talk.

Donald Howlett invests Roger Pease with the authority to look after his Ford. Better take a pump along for those retreads, Roger.

Alberta Karvelis leaves her blond tresses to Helen Spilka. Don't use peroxide, Helen.

Elaine Grant is the recipient of Shirley Kearney's dignity. May it never fail, Elaine.

Margaret Ahern donates her freckles and a bottle of iodine to Charlotte Marks. This is in case you don't freckle easily, Charlotte.

Herbert Gilman relinquishes his bus list to David Collins.

Francis Boroski surrenders the shop to Edward Broughal.

Julia Flack leaves her fallen arches, which she acquired while working in the office, to Eleanor Smith.

Anne Gibbons bestows on Irene Poliak the honor of selling lunch tickets. Please, Irene, don't mix up the change.

Sophie Muzikievik and Barbara Haggart leave the Wapping and Warehouse Point buses in the care of Jimmie Blozie and Vittie Masiunas.

Walter Kessler leaves his daily trip to Melrose to Roger Pease.

Jerry King leaves her ability as a pianist to Anne Lawton. Take good care of the piano, Anne.

Julie Kizis faithfully surrenders the barn dances to Margaret Busher. Don't dance too much, Margaret.

Olga Kubasek leaves her quietness to Betty Kirchhof.

Mary Kucejko leaves South Water Street, Warehouse Point to Elinor Palozie's watchful care.

Noreen Madden thoughtfully bestows upon Luther Kendall her line of chatter. Don't talk too much, Luther.

Francis McGrath surrenders his quiet way to Babe Maizon.

Julia Miller gives her job in the cafeteria to Betty Barry.

Margaret Muska bequeaths her shyness to her brother Charlie.

George Neelans surrenders his quiet and sedate manners to Bob Jilson. Be good now, Bob.

Barbara Nevers leaves her many clothes to any girl they will fit.

Hazel Niederwerfer surrenders her great interest in studies to Frank Petraitis. Don't study too hard, Frank.

Richard Niederwerfer bequeaths his great vocabulary(?) to Albert Rose.

Eileen Norton leaves her numerous tasks to her sister Madeline. Keep up the family record, Madeline.

Meta Overgaard wills her retiring manner and quiet voice to Priscilla Goettler.

John Palozie donates his curly hair to Lindy Buddes.

Ruth Pease has reserved her sunny disposition for Shirley Johnson.

Thomas Pitney leaves his trumpet to anyone who can play it. Perhaps Ellsworth will need sound proof walls.

Eunice Potwin leaves her secretarial jobs to the best note taker in the Junior Class.

Frank Sabonis surrenders his talkative manner to Trapper Grigely. Remember, Trapper, "Silence is Golden."

Earle Sargent regretfully surrenders his farm to Clint Whitehouse. We know it's in good hands.

Charles Steitz hereby presents his intelligence to anyone who can use it.

Arthur St. Martin bequeaths his sleepiness to his brother Jake. Don't snore too much, Jake.

Virginia Surber leaves her boy friends to Anna Boyle. Take good care of them, Anna.

Elmer Tromley surrenders his many bicycle rides to Thompsonville to Bill Higgins.

Anna Mae Turner bequeaths her shining curls to Phyllis MacDougald.

Joe Vozek respectfully surrenders his trig book to Allen Howlett. Here's hoping you can always find it.

Kay Whitney leaves her friendliness to Bettye Davis.

George Wolfe bequeaths his small stature to Dutch Leenders.

Wanda Slaweck and Hermina Hlavey bestow their giggles upon Gertrude Hill and Ida Smith. There'll be a big demand for earmuffs.

Emily Stryjeski leaves her D. A. R. medal to next year's most distinguished Senior girl.

Ruth Wilson leaves her love of dancing to Phyllis Bancroft.

The Seniors reluctantly leave the front steps in the care of next year's Seniors.

Here on the first day of June in the year of our Lord One Thousand Nine Hundred and Forty-two, we, the President, John Gahr; Vice-President, Francis McGrath; Secretary, Eunice Potwin; Treasurer, Edward Grigely set our seal to this testimony and last will.

Signed and sealed and declared by the Class of 1942 of Ellsworth Memorial High School for their last will and Testament in the presence of us who at its request have hereunto subscribed ourselves as witnesses this first day of June, 1942.

HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF 1942

Scene: Court Room at Ellsworth Memorial High School.

Judge: Education.

Jury: Achievement, Initiative, Ambition, Loyalty, Leadership, Alertness.

Defendant: Class of 1942, E. M. H. S.

Clerk of the Court—

Class of 1942, Ellsworth Memorial High School, you are brought before this court to demonstrate your ability and progress during your years at this high school. Is your representative ready to take the stand?

Class Defendant—

Honorable Judge and Gentlemen of the Jury—

We present the following account of our activities as a group during our high school career.

From the beginning we showed a great desire to learn and to participate in our new school life and its activities. After a few months had passed, we faced the difficult task of electing our class officers, who were President, Joseph Vozek; Vice-President, Eileen Norton; Secretary, James Mackintosh; Treasurer, William Cooper. To acquaint our class with the other members of the school we were given a party by the Sophomores. The big event of the year was our trip to the New York World's Fair. Although a few members of the class managed to get lost during the day, all were present on the train when we started for home.

Upon entering our Sophomore year, we discovered that a number of new members had joined our class. They were Geraldine King, Arthur Burnham, Herbert Gilman, Barbara Haggart, and Francis McGrath. After the election of our class officers, who were President, Edward Grigley; Vice-President, George Neelans; Secretary, John Gahr; and Treasurer, Thomas Pitney; we had the pleasure of giving a party for the Freshmen.

During the year many of the boys began to show their athletic ability, such as: Edward Grigely, Arthur St. Martin, George Neelans, Thomas Cadder, William Cooper, Francis Boroski, and Robert Bourke. As the second year at Ellsworth drew to a close, the members of the class enjoyed a picnic at Lake Compounce.

The class opened their Junior year with the election of class officers. Those elected to carry on the work of the Junior year were President, Charles Steitz; Vice-President, John Gahr; Secretary, Anna Mae Turner; and Treasurer, William Cooper. We again added a new member to our class. Kathryn Whitney since joining us has taken an active part in all school affairs. The most important event to us was the choosing of our class rings. The class showed their originality by choosing a ring that was a different style from that chosen by former classes.

The annual play production was "Big Hearted Herbert," in which Hazel Niederwerfer and Elva Grant proved that we had actresses in our group. As you yourself no doubt recall, Your Honor, the Junior Prom was considered the high light of the year. The Junior Prom Committee arranged everything except the weather, but the music of the Farmington Valley Orchestra chased away any gloom caused by the rain.

It was now evident that we had our share of athletes. The Soccer Squad had the cooperation of Edward Grigely, Arthur St. Martin, John Gahr, Francis Boroski, William Cooper, George Neelans, and Robert Bourke. The Boys' Track Team was assisted by the following Junior boys: Harold Flaherty, Francis Boroski, Thomas Cadder, William Cooper, and Robert Bourke. Thomas Cadder, Edward Grigely, and Arthur St. Martin also participated in basketball.

We again closed our year with a picnic at Lake Compounce.

The summer's vacation left us refreshed and ambitious for the task ahead of us. We now had the right to walk up the front steps. Our leaders during this important year have been: President, John Gahr; Vice-President, Francis McGrath; Secretary, Eunice Potwin; and Treasurer, Edward Grigely. The class held a Senior Get-Together which gave the underclassmen a chance to become acquainted with one another.

Early in our Senior year "Dictator Dad" was presented with Charles Steitz and Hazel Niederwerfer in leading roles. Other important roles were held by Elva Grant, and Noreen Madden. This was another means of raising funds for our Washington trip.

In the latter part of March a Senior Minstrel was held. Francis McGrath acted as interlocutor with Harold Flaherty, John Gahr, and Robert Bourke as endmen. The Senior vocalists were Audrey Armstrong, Ruth Wilson, and Arthur Burnham. The audience was also entertained by the Springboard Quartet which consisted of Arthur Burnham, Everett Boyle, Donald Howlett, and John Dziadul.

The boys active in basketball were John Gahr, Thomas Cadder, and Arthur St. Martin. William Cooper was manager of the Basketball Team during this year. The Senior boys sponsored a basketball game for the benefit of our Washington Trip.

Emily Stryjeski was awarded the good citizenship medal by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

At last came the anticipated Washington Trip. The Washington Trip Committee which consisted of Virginia Surber, Margaret Ahern, Thomas Pitney, and Arthur St. Martin, helped to make this a very successful trip.

The Class of 1942 have as its honor students Charles Steitz, Valedictorian, and Hazel Niederwerfer, Salutatorian, respectfully.

Our four years have almost reached an end and soon we must make our final farewells to our beloved school, faculty, and classmates. We will always recall these happy years at Ellsworth regardless of our future activities and successes.

Judge: The Jury will retire and determine the verdict.

Chairman of the Jury: Without further deliberation we have come to the conclusion that the class of nineteen forty-two of Ellsworth Memorial High School has conducted itself with remarkable credit throughout its school years and as a group shows great promise of future success.

Judge: The case is dismissed.

—Eileen Norton.

CLASS PROPHECY

Have you read "This World of Fame" published by Dunscoth, Perkins, and Squillins? Oh, you must have. This Book of the Month Club selection for January, 1962, was written by those two literary geniuses, my contemporary, Arthur Burnham and myself.

In supplying material for this masterpiece, we encountered a number of our former high school classmates.

While passing through the great metropolis of Broad Brook, we happened into one of the thriving dance halls where we found those two noted trumpeters, Tom Pitney and Walter Kessler. Maestro Pitney said that business was good, but he was having a little difficulty with the South Windsor trade because Gerry King and her all girl orchestra are giving the boys some stiff competition. Incidentally, the girls' vocalist is Audrey Armstrong.

On arriving in Melrose, we heard the story of "Local Girl Makes Good." Madame La Grant, Elva Grant to her friends, has just made her debut at Carnegie Hall as the most talented young pianist of the year. The hub-bub of her home coming was too much for us so we departed for peaceful Rye Street.

Along this placid, wide boulevard we discovered the beautiful mansion of Noreen Madden, young New York socialite who has established residence in Connecticut. Her utterly exotic gown so attracted us that we inquired about the designer of such a creation. Imagine our surprise when we learned that Rita Grant was the responsible genius. As a result of her experience in designing clothes for New York socialites, she is now in great demand in the movie capital.

Reluctantly departing from this residential section for the business district of Wapping, we were startled by the sight of a new building. Upon inquiry we found it to be a secretarial school founded by Sophie Muzikievik, Margaret Muska, and Mary Kucejko. Sophie, the president of the firm, often engages well-known lecturers to explain the key to success. Among these have been Wanda Slawewski, the newly titled world's fastest typist, and Emily Stryjeski, that wizard of shorthand.

Speaking of businesses and firms, you might be interested to know that Hermina Hlavey, Olga Kubasek, and Alberta Karvelis have combined their efforts and funds into forming a song sheet concern.

Upon venturing to the outskirts of Wapping, we found that Hazel and Richard Niederwerfer, the twins in our midst, are still holding their place in the public eye. Richard, the famed public orator who got his start in Senior Class meetings, is now debating on the floor of the Senate over the proposed farm legislation.

Hazel is quite at home in Hollywood playing character roles. We hear that Margaret Ahern is also working with Hazel for the same producers, Margaret's specialty being that of a singing maid.

Speaking of professional people, Julia Flack, the girl who always knew her dance steps, has opened a dancing school in Scantic and has many former Ellsworth students as her pupils. Julie Kizis, her prize pupil, may soon become a teacher in the New York branch.

Furnishing the female victims for the local dances is the function of the date bureau operated by Doris Chevinsky and Alphina Gingras. The firm is working in collaboration with the escort service established by Julia Miller and Virginia Surber. Business is so profitable that a branch operated by Ruth Wilson, has been founded in that new boom town, Warehouse Point.

Now leaving the social light, we concentrate on the career girls in the world of fame. We find that Betty Burnham has become a dentist's secretary and expert chatterer to suffering patients. Barbara Nevers, who runs her own advertising business, has recently been elected the best dressed career girl of 1962. By the way, this poll was taken by Kay Whitney, who surprisingly enough is interested in newspaper work.

In the fine and useful arts we find such distinguished personages as: Eileen Norton, famed dressmaker. Ruth Pease, farmerette and author of "Women Farmers," has attacked Jack Palozie's theory of farming. The world renowned artist, Eunice Potwin, is exhibiting her famous canvases at the Scantic Art Gallery. Joe and Phina Baranauskys, those Dancing Baranauskys, can be currently seen at the Bushnell Memorial with their ballet troupe. Anna Mae Turner, the television girl, who got her start singing in high school corridors, is now filling the air waves with her strictly modern interpretation of the latest hits.

Charles Steitz, professor of history at Harvard, has amazed the cultural world by his endeavor to unionize the professors and incidentally to collect the fees thereof. His associate, Professor Francis McGrath, has just astounded the world by disproving Einstein's Theory of Relativity.

Tune in your radio some day at seven fifteen, P. M. You can hear Frank Sabonis, "The Dynamic Voice of Radio," introduce Anne Gibbons who gives a daily lecture course in counting money. The program is sponsored by the Arthur St. Martin Amusement Co., the sole manufacturer of the famed "Zombie" pin-ball machines.

Phil "Tailspin" Bannock and Donald "Loop" Howlett are now majors in the Army Air Corps. Although the two pilots lead a dangerous and hazardous life, they do not fear injury because their Army nurses are Meta Overgaard and Barbara Haggart.

The new manager of the Broad Brook Company, Tom Cadder, has just reorganized the plant. He has commissioned Harold Flaherty to paint all the pictures for the Company's ads. By the way, if you wish to see Tom some day, just call up his efficient secretary, Anna Elinskas, and she will make an appointment for you.

As we passed the Broad Brook Grammar School, we found the school's two head coaches, John Gahr and Eddie Grigely, watching their protege and Broad Brook's greatest athlete, George Wolfe, warm up for his checker game against Joe Belazaras, manager of the Rye Street Basketball Demons. The Demons, an all-girl team, are coached by Erma Hoffman.

The Gilman-Cooper bus service has been prospering. Under the skillful management of Herb Gilman and Bill Cooper, the company has been able to provide bus service to the home of Elmer Tromley, the bicycle magnate.

One of the biggest farms in the country is owned by Earle Sargent. He sells all of his potato crop to his neighbor, Robert Bourke, who uses the potatoes to make his famed potato chips. On cold winter evenings Everett Boyle, the Scantic trapper; John Dziadul, plumber extraordinary, and Mr. Sargent gather at Bourke's potato chip palace to talk over old times.

One of our classmates has embarked on a political career. Joe Vozek is being boosted by his party for the governorship. His opponent, the former photographer's model, George Neelans, has just hired Francis Boroski to campaign for him. Mr. Boroski is the renowned pole vaulter who finally cleared 27½ feet.

These are but a few highlights, ladies and gentlemen, of the treat in store for you when you read "This World of Fame." Personally autographed copies are now on sale at your local book store for a surprisingly nominal sum.

The Student Council is composed of the Senior Class officers, the presidents of the other classes, the leaders of all organizations and clubs, and a representative from each home room.

This year the Student Council has continued the work and carried out the policies of former councils. The most important accomplishment was the forming of the William R. Wood Chapter of the Honor Society of Secondary Schools.

The purpose of this new society is to create an enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate a desire to render service, to promote worthy leadership, and to encourage the development of character in the pupils of Ellsworth Memorial High School.

Left to Right: Margaret Ahern, Arthur St. Martin, Virginia Surber, Thomas Pitney.

BOYS' BASKETBALL SQUAD

The 1942 basketball team stretched Ellsworth's winning streak to 66 games before sustaining the first loss in three years. Despite this one loss, the team won 18 games of the 19 games played during the regular season. They scored easy wins in the qualifying and semi-final rounds in the C-D tournament.

TRACK SQUAD

The Track Squad, under the direction of Mr. Greer and Mr. Horvath, has won several meets, including the dual meet with Windsor High School.

At the Connecticut Relays held at the University of Connecticut the boys won three plaques in recognition of their winning first place in the 440, 880, and mile relays in the C-D class. The team placed second in the two mile relay. Maizon, winner of the broad jump, came within an inch of establishing a new record. McCann placed third.
